Expanding outreach

A new volunteer at Forsyth CC (left) signs for deaf inmates during a Yokefellow meeting. Chaplain Robert Wolfe hopes other volunteers who sign will join them and perhaps assist in worship.

Spotlight on Volunteers

Renaldo Addison Landsdale “Bud” Walker devoted a major portion of his ministry career to prison chaplaincy. He became a state-paid chaplain in 1975 when there was only one other state chaplain in North Carolina. At the conclusion of his role as Chief of Chaplains in 1984 there were more than 70 state-paid chaplains and approximately 20 funded chaplains ministering to the inmate population.

Throughout these years Bud had a basic commitment to Yokefellow Prison Ministry as he served on the Board of Directors, as he provided guidance and advice to Yokefellows, and constantly supported our ministry through chaplaincy and prison administrators.

Bud deeply cared for people — to cite one example is to recall his ministry to one of our early Yokefellow leaders, Max Vestal. Max was a regional coordinator/trainer in the South Central area of our state as well as the pastor of the Eutaw United Church of Christ in Fayetteville.

It was in 1985 when Max was diagnosed with a malignant brain tumor. Numerous times Bud visited him and provided support, understanding, and encouragement. On at least three of these visits I was present and was deeply impressed by Bud’s care and love for Max.

Meeting helps put Yokefellow in focus

Yokefellow volunteers gathered at First Baptist Church in Burlington, N.C., on Saturday, Oct. 25, for Yokefellow Prison Ministry’s Annual Meeting.

Volunteers from some 22 volunteer groups came together to sing, hear inspirational speakers, share stories, worship, and conduct business as they focused again on what Yokefellow represents and who we are as Yokefellow participants, in our ministry within North Carolina correctional facilities.

Rev. Bruce Pate, a member of the Yokefellow Board and a volunteer for 31 years, reflected on the past, present, and future of the group. Bruce, a United Methodist minister, began his service as a volunteer at the Guess Road Unit in Durham in 1977-78. He had three suggestions for the future:

(1) Pray for the work. Bruce emphasized fervent listening prayer and called all of us to pray for the residents, their families, victims and their families, and those who provide ministry through Yokefellow.

(2) Recruit new volunteers for the work. For those who are already involved, Bruce encouraged them to be “the best you can be,” to know the Yokefellow model and discipline, and to tell the Yokefellow story to others.

(3) Undergird the ministry with financial support. “If everybody does a little bit, nobody has to do a lot.”

David Vanstory shared his personal testimony about Yokefellow, prison life, and God’s recovery for him. Incarcerated three different times, David described his downward struggle as he became addicted to alcohol and drugs. He noted his heart and motives were not right when he first became involved with Yokefellow. During his third prison sentence — for ten years — he came to realize that “prison could not change me.” In his cell he cried out, “O Lord help me.”

From that moment on, he became involved in the drug treatment program, began to follow the program, and relied on God for guidance and strength. He progressed to become a peer counselor and found that God was changing him for God’s service. During his teaching in the drug program he had a vision of a model for ministry he now uses in his work.

Rev. Reggie Longecrier, the day’s keynote speaker, is a chaplain in the State Prison System and the Executive Director of Exodus Homes, an agency that provides supportive housing for folks in need. He challenged the attendees to hear the call of God to reach out to those in our State facilities.

How you can help Yokefellow Prison Ministry

In 2009, Yokefellow Prison Ministry will celebrate 40 years of service to those in prison in North Carolina. We move into this time of celebration looking back with thanksgiving and forward with expectation for all that God will do in and through our ministry together.

We live in hopeful, but challenging times. Our organization, like many others, needs strong financial support. Every contribution, of any size, helps to move us forward in service to those in prison. We have one paid staff person for a state-wide ministry in 53 (and soon to be more!) correctional facilities involving more than 800 volunteers. Our small budget is not funded by the government, the United Way, foundations, or a big endowment. It is supported by the gifts of churches, church groups, Board members, volunteers, and interested individuals.

Through October we have received small grants from three denominations; gifts from 27 churches, five church groups, 53 individuals; and contributions from three Yokefellow units.

As more people respond to the opportunity to give, our finances will remain strong and we can continue to share Christ's transforming love.

How you can help:

- Pray that, as in the past, God will continue to bless and provide for the financial needs of Yokefellows.

- If you are able to make an on-going, or one-time, or year-end gift to Yokefellow Prison Ministry, please do so today!

- Consider asking family members, friends, a Sunday school class, mission group, or your local church to provide a gift or special offerings for Yokefellow.

YES, I want to help Yokefellow Prison Ministry by...

- Praying for God's blessings on Yokefellow and its ministry to inmates.
- Making a financial donation.
- Asking a family member or friend to make a financial donation.
- Asking my church, church group, or Sunday School to make a donation.
- Please send me more information about Yokefellow.

Annual meeting puts Yokefellow in focus

He cited two reasons for his involvement in such ministry. First, a theological reason: Jesus' call to "go and do likewise." Christians are to be judged on "how we treat the least of these." He was captured by the fact that a resident who is released from prison, in most cases, has nowhere to go. He shared the story of one resident who upon arriving in his hometown was met at the bus stop by the

Yokefellow group begins

Yokefellow's State Trainer and Developer, David Canady, met with volunteers at the Maury Correctional Institution on Nov. 3 to begin a new Yokefellow group.

Five volunteers attended the meeting where David led a mini-training session. Following the training session, approximately 35 inmates came for the first Yokefellow meeting. David reported that there was a brief period with a song and prayer with the inmates and volunteers joining hands in a circle. The 35 inmates broke up into smaller groups with a volunteer with each group. David reports that the participation in his group was excellent.

Yokefellow volunteer, Ester Perara, will be the Yokefellow Coordinator. She has been a Yokefellow at the Green Correctional Center for a number of years. Ms. Perara and other volunteers will be recruiting more volunteers which David will train.

drug dealer. Such behavior challenged him to develop a "gate brigade" which took shape in his housing ministry.

Second, he has a personal reason for being involved in prison ministry. He described himself as the "original prodigal." He had a life of crime with incarceration in reformatories and prison facilities. In a prison in North Carolina he felt God saying to him, "I'm going to make you ask me for help." He became involved in a Yokefellow Group and through that experience God restored his confidence in himself. His pilgrimage as a follower of Christ has taken him from being a resident to being a State Chaplain. He testified to God's power in his life in one sentence: "Today I hold the keys to the same prison I spent time in."

The Annual Meeting was a powerful experience in God's presence. Through these three speakers, our music and worship, we were challenged to focus again on who we are and what our mission is to be. There had been a revival, a renewal, a new commitment to the service of our Lord through Yokefellow Prison Ministry. God works amazingly through stories to touch us with a fresh desire to be in His service.

— Jerry Richards

Yokefellow volunteer spotlighted

Bud had a special gift of relating to persons. He was at home with government officials, politicians, church leaders, as well as new prison volunteers, members from the smallest of churches, and the least educated inmates. Wherever he traveled as a chaplain he tried to live out one of his favorite themes: "I'm here to bring help and not hassle!"

Bud's love and care did not end with Yokefellow leaders, church leaders, chaplains, and administrators. It extended to inmates whatever their crime(s) or histories. It would be true to say that his greatest passion was to bring equal justice to all regardless of race, sex, or religion. Fair and equal treatment for all was his marching song! It is not surprising, therefore, that Yokefellow Prison Ministry was close to his heart because the value and worth of each individual is foundational for our Yokefellow Ministry. Beginning with the value and worth of each person, one finds it easy to listen and to build relationships of trust and respect. This is our focus on ministry and Bud found himself in harmony with our commitment to Yoke ourselves with Christ and inmates.

Our ministry has been greatly enhanced by Bud's active participation, support, encouragement, and leadership. We continue to be enriched by his prayers and insights.
